

Goals and Future

Contributed by Administrator
 Monday, 30 June 2008
 Last Updated Saturday, 28 August 2010

Goals

Short Term:

- Build a handful of POS's to be accessible to appropriate member corporations
- Begin construction of a defense fleet and military contacts
- Have a group operating in 0.0 for those who wish access

Medium Term:

- No-sec POS constructions for moon mining
- Expanded list of member corporations
- Begin construction of capital ships owned by the alliance (in particular jump freighters)

Long Term:

- Gain sovereignty of a small number of 0.0 systems for use by anyone — alliance members or otherwise
- Significant internal military force dedicated to protection of the 0.0 systems
- Construct an alliance owned Outpost in 0.0

Ongoing:

- Establishing blue with powerful alliances, and negotiating trade terms
- Regular mining and 0.0 activities for members to participate in

0.0 Home

Eventually we will seek to set up a home in 0.0, and wish for safe travel to and from this area for not only House members, but indeed anyone. When we establish this home, it will be necessary for some players to protect the systems from other aggressors and pirates who act with hostility to the alliance.

The alliance hopes to carve out a handful of systems in 0.0 that can be used by the House and also non-members for purposes of mining and industry in safety. It is the hope that the House of Mercury can maintain peace with as many as possible and outlaw any acts of aggression against other pilots in the area so industrialists can operate in peace. Eventually there will be an outpost provided for the sale and purchase of goods, and jump freighters used to transport goods back to Empire.

Funds

The funds obtained from members will be used (for example) for:

- Building capital ships for alliance use
- Funding ship replacements for on official ops
- Wartime costs, recruitment of outside help
- Investments in larger alliance assets - theoretically, t2 bpo's, costly bpo's, alliance POS's

The House will be dedicated to serving member corporations for as long as those members uphold the vision and ideals of the alliance.